The Judge Cornered,

Out in Indians, a good many years ago certain old woman summoned as a witness, came into court wearing a large poke bonnet, such as was then much affected by rural folks. Her answers to the questions put to her being rather indistinct, the court requested her to speak much londer, though without much success.

"The court cannot hear a word you say, my good woman," said the judge. "Please to take off that huge bonnet o yours." "Sir," she said, composedly and dis-tinc'ly enough this time, "the court has a perfect right to bid a gentleman take off his hat, but it has no right to make a lady remove her bonnet." "Madam," replied the judge, "you

In winter, hogs find a relish in clover hay, and a little is both wholesome and nourishing; and, too, they should be fed salt as regularly as other stock, though very few seem to think so.

Even when the pigs are in the pasture throw to them all the roots, vegetables and waste material possible; they like the variety and will do better. It is wise to so divide the pasture lots that they may be out all summer, for in the hot months the grass gets very short and gives them but little nourishment.
